Open Shops.

Jackson, Miss., Oct. 5.—Eleven companies of state troops with rifles loaded and bayonets fixed patrolled the streets of McComb City today and six other companies will be on their way there before night. The commanders have been ordered to shoot to kill if there is any further outbreak in the strike of the Illinois Central Systems Federations at that point.

Strike sympathizers have threatened to blow up the Illinois Central's $2,000,000 shops there. Fearful that some irresponsible person may attempt to carry out some such threat, Governor Noel has thrown the troops into the city.

There are 1300 men on strike at McComb City, who are highly incensed over the sending of soldiers there. Railroad officials assert that if dynamite is used there they will remove every one of their shops from the city, which would mean commercial destruction to McComb, which is dependent on the shops for its existence.

New Orleans, Oct. 5.—That six men have been killed and over 100 wounded in the present clash between the Harriman lines and their employees, is the assertion of the Southern Exchange peace committee in an offer to conduct an arbitration agreement between the road and the strikers today. The conflict is characterized as one of the bloodiest on record in this section of the country. It also shows that the loss in money to all interests is a million dollars a day. The full text of the communication has not been made public.

Augusta, Ga., Oct. 5.—While the trainmen were taking a Georgia and Florida freight train through the Southern yards at Hamburg S. C. strikers attacked the crew, seriously hurting and perhaps fatally injuring a number of the strike breakers.

Sylvester Moriarty, a guard from New York, was struck on the head with a coupling pin and his skull was fractured. He may die.

William King, of New York, was badly cut about the head and face and shot through the arm.

William Ray, fireman, New York, was badly cut about the head and face.

Others also were seriously hurt.

All the injured men are strike breakers and are in the city hospital.

Application was filed by the Georgia and Florida Railroad Company before Judge Pardee in the United States circuit court asking for a restraining order to prevent striking firemen or their sympathizers from interfering with the road's property.

Railroad Guard Wounded.

Water Valley, Miss., Oct. 5.—In an exchange of shots with Sheriff F. H. Smith and two deputies last night, a member of the special force of guards stationed at the Water Valley shops of the Illinois Central railroad was wounded. The wounded man was quickly carried within the shop enclosure.

News of the encounter was soon circulated and crowds began to form in the downtown streets and about the railroad yards.

According to the statements of the county officers, they were accosted.

REP. FULTON
HONORED BY
GOV. HARMON

Hon. W. D. Fulton, of this city, representative from Licking county in the lower house of the Ohio legislature, has been appointed by Governor Harmon as one of the members of the committee to attend the funeral of Representative L. Kuebler, which will be held at Mansfield, Saturday morning at 8.30 o'clock.

MERE HANDFUL ATTENDED THE WIDELY ADVERTISED REPUBLICAN LOVE FEAST

That the Republican party of Newark is hopelessly split was evidenced by the meeting of Republicans held in the assembly room of the court house Wednesday evening.

Public Safety Director Fletcher Scott appealed for harmony and urged the selection of a city executive committee that would not be autocratic and which could be visited by the rank and file of the party without first securing the consent of aristocratic party leaders before whom it was necessary to bow low before gaining admittance to the sacred presence of the head of the party machine which for years has dictated all nominations and directed the destinies of the Republican party in Newark and Licking county.

Members of both factions were present and to a disinterested person the much-heralded and widely-advertised love-feast resembled a ward meeting where rival factions sparred for points.

members of the central committee would be welcomed.

After Mr. Montgomery's statement the fireworks were turned loose and for the next hour could certain Republican leaders who have controlled the Republican machine be present they would have heard things

TYPICAL SCENES IN TRIPOLI, SHOWING UNIQUE PHASES OF LIFE IN COUNTRY OVER WHICH WAR IS BEING WAGED

The accompanying pictures illustrate unique phases of life in Tripoli, the African country over which Italy and Turkey are contending by force of arms. The upper scene shows the bread market just outside the ancient walls of the city of Tripoli, with a section of the wall and the Turkish governor's palace inside. The other illustration shows the tent of a Bedouin under a palm tree in an oasis of the desert, which constitutes much of the area of Tripoli.

MRS. RICHARD SEVERANCE STRUCK BY INTERURBAN CAR AND INSTANTLY KILLED

Apparently bewildered and unable to realize her position, Mrs. Mary Severance, the estimable wife of Mr. Richard Severance, one of the most prominent residents of St. Albans township, failed to get out of the way of an approaching interurban car while walking along the track, about ten miles east of the city, Wednesday evening, and was struck and instantly killed.

The details of the terrible accident as far as can be learned are as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Severance, with several other persons, had been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hughes, near Hanover, and in the early evening Mrs. Severance, Mr. and Mrs. Elton Schaub, Mrs. Emmet Hartman and a boy named Paul Myers started to walk along the tracks of the interurban railway from Connell's to the tunnel, leaving Mr. Severance at the house. As they reached a point about half way between the tunnel and the Everett stop, with Mrs. Severance about five feet in the rear of the other members of the party, the west bound car from Zanesville, due in Newark at 5.15 o'clock, in charge of Motorman Wyant and Conductor J. F. Leedy, rounded the curve a short distance away.

The motorman noticed the party, particularly Mrs. Severance, and blew the whistle. All the members of the party stepped off the track, with the exception of Mrs. Severance, who seemed bewildered and dazed. Once she stepped to the end of the ties, but immediately stepped back on the track.

The motorman realized that the car would strike her and hurriedly put on the emergency brakes, but before the car responded it struck Mrs. Severance about the head and shoulders, hurling her down a slight embankment and killing her almost instantly.

The other members of the party witnessed the tragedy without the power to prevent it. It was a great shock to them, but makes the facts certain and conclusive.

The car was at once stopped and the body of Mrs. Severance was brought to Newark. Mrs. Severance was dead when picked up, and it was evident that death had been instantaneous.

It is not known at this time when the funeral services will be held.

HERO'S WIDOW GETS $331.

Cleveland, Oct. 5.—Four weeks ago Clark Presley, a Nottingham coal wagon driver, lost his life trying to save a three year old boy from death under the wheels of an interurban car. Today his widow and two children were presented with $331.36 raised by public subscription in honor of Presley's deed.

PROBE OF THE PEN POSTPONED

Columbus, O., Oct. 5.—Attorney General Hogan's probe into the affairs of the Ohio penitentiary has been again postponed. Last night's fire in the pen and today's preparation for the execution of Charles Justice Green county murderer, which is set for midnight tonight, have so upset the officials at the institution that they requested another delay before being called to testify. According to present plans the investigation will start tomorrow.

RODGERS OFF FOR CHICAGO

Huntington, Ind., Oct. 5.—Carrying a four leaf clover for good luck and with his machine working perfectly Aviator C. P. Rodgers, flying from ocean to ocean, left here at 11.40 today for Chicago. He expects to reach there about 3 o'clock this afternoon. Chicago is 142 miles from here.

ELECTROCUTION AGAIN POSTPONED

Columbus, Oct. 5.—Governor Harmon granted today a reprieve to Charles Justice, Green county murderer, whose electrocution was set for midnight at the pen today. Justice's attorney claims to have unearthed additional evidence which he wishes to present to the governor. October 27 is the new date set for the execution. This is the fourth time Justice has been reprieved.

COMMITTEE WORKING ON GERRYMANDER

But There Was Nothing Accomplished After An All Day's Strenuous Effort.

Columbus, Oct. 5.—"We will be lucky if we have a bill ready for presentation when the general assembly meets," said State Oil Inspector W. L. Finley last evening, after having spent the day with the committee to which was entrusted the task of preparing a gerrymander act.

State Insurance Superintendent E. J. Moore, Senator T. A. Dean of Sandusky county and Representative W. D. Fulton of Licking county are the other gerrymanderers. Congressman Goble of Wapakoneta met with them in Mr. Finley's office yesterday.

Last evening it was given out that very little progress had been made. Mr. Finley said the most that had been done was to block off the counties into compact districts, so that the latter would be nearly equal in population.

He called attention to the discrepancies in population between the districts as at present constituted. For instance, the Twentieth and Twenty-first districts have 680,000 people, while the Sixth, for example, has only 170,000.

"It will be about even Stephen," said Mr. Finley, when asked as to the division planned as between Democrats and Republicans.

"For my part, I believe nothing will be gained for the Democrats by the redistricting. We may not have as many districts for Democratic congressmen as we could elect next year," Democrats now have 16 congressmen out of 21.

"We do think, however," he continued, "that there should be an equalization of the population of districts."

THE ITALIAN CRUISER CAVOUR IS REPORTED SUNK IN TRIPOLI BAY

News Which Came from Constantinople
This Morning Has Not Been Confirmed However

MITYLENE IS SAID TO BE UNDER BOMBARDMENT

Message from Milan Sent Across the Italian Frontier Says Italians Have Suffered First Reverse Since Outbreak of War Being Repulsed in Attempted Landing at Prevesa.

London, Oct. 5.—From Constantinople and Athens today come reports of a great naval engagement between the fleets of Turkey and Italy, in which the Turkish fleet is said to have been completely destroyed. Mysteriously cannonading has been heard from various points along the Grecian coast. The only certain thing about the Turkish fleet is that since the war started no one has known of its whereabouts or action.

The London Evening Times declares this afternoon that it has reliable information that Austria has determined to take action to prevent a continuance of Italy's operations along the Albanian coast.

London, Oct. 5.—An unconfirmed report from Constantinople says the Italian cruiser Cavour ran into a mine in Tripoli Bay today and was sunk. The bombardment of the city of Mitylene by the Italians is also reported.

The Italians have suffered their first reverse since the outbreak of the war with Turkey according to a message telephoned from Milan across the Italian frontier. After a bombardment lasting several hours it is stated that the Italian forces attempted a landing early today at Prevesa, but were repulsed with a loss of 15 men. Only the meager details of the affair are available.

Genoa, Oct. 5.—The first contingent of the African expedition, 1200 troops, left last night on the steamer America for Tripoli. Vast crowds on the docks cheered the men enthusiastically.

Malta, Oct. 5.—Following the instructions of his government, Admiral Aubrey, commanding the Italian fleet, is sparing all the consulates, churches, monasteries, convents and private dwellings in the bombardment of Tripoli.

The aim is only to dismantle the fortifications and the governor's palace, and to force the surrender of a vilayet in a condition but little damaged, since this would accrue to the benefit of Italy, which intends to take immediate possession.

Before commencing the bombardment the Italian squadron removed all mines, and made a careful revision of the hydrographic charts to insure safety to the coming transports. This operation lasted several days and probably explains the real reason for the delay in the bombardment.

Four Italian officers arrived yesterday at Djerba, in Tunis, and are proceeding overland toward Tripoli on a reconnoitering expedition, as the Arabs are expected to offer stubborn resistance to the occupation of the vilayet.

Tripoli has been bombarded twice. The first shot was fired shortly after 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Shelling was resumed early Wednesday morning after a quiet night.

There was a steady but slow fire from the warships until dusk Tuesday evening, and shots also came from the forts in the town.

The French steamer Tafana took a delegation from Djerba to the scene of hostilities. Among the party was the French consul, General M. Leon, who made several ineffectual attempts to land. The Tafana was stopped about ten miles from Tripoli by a boat from the cruiser Varese, which ordered her to return, but she remained for more than an hour, even creeping in closer to the blockaded town.

The white buildings of Tripoli could be plainly seen and the whole field of operations was unfolded before the watchers. Officers of the Varese explained that the battle had been delayed because Admiral Aubrey, commander of the Italian fleet, had received a request from the Tripoli garrison for another day's grace and gave the garrison an extra few hours.

The battleship Benedetto Brin and armored cruisers Giuseppe Garibaldi and Francesco Ferruccio drew up in line opposite the harbor. There were no small craft in the battle line and the Varese stood off to keep back intruders.

There was no sign of life in the city, which appeared deserted, but the Turkish flag flew high from the castle and forts. The first shots were directed toward Charchafi Fort and later Kerkereche Fort was silenced. As the first shells burst over Tripoli the garrison seemed to awake. It returned the fire with vigor. A heavy cannonade was kept up on both sides for a few minutes, and then firing became desultory. So far as could be seen no warship was hit.

Vice Admiral Faravelli at 4 o'clock ordered his ships to cease firing to permit the town to surrender, but no sign was given, and after a few minutes the ships began again. This time great havoc was wrought. Fortifications were razed, the forts sunk.

PRES. TAFT IS GUEST OF THE MORMONS

Salt Lake City, Utah, Oct. 5.—In the center of the great Mormon community President Taft today spent a busy time. United States Senator Reed Smoot, the Mormon leader, was in charge of the arrangement and the Mormon element of the state was well represented at the reception for the president. After a breakfast at the new Hotel Utah the president received the "old folks week" one of Utah's most picturesque customs. During one week the old folks are the guests of the young people of the state.

GRAND TRIBUTE TO DEAD BODY OF ADMIRAL SCHLEY

Washington, D. C., Oct. 5.—The United States Navy Department which for years withheld its approval of the conduct of Rear Admiral Winfield Scott Schley at Santiago, today outdid itself in an effort to pay honor and tribute to the dead body of the naval hero, which it refused the living hero. The monster funeral procession with all the military and naval display that the government could offer was a somewhat belated honor to Schley, but it was complete and in many respects the most remarkable funeral Washington ever witnessed. The cortege was in charge of Rear Admiral Badger. In the line were a big naval band from Annapolis, several hundred midshipmen, 500 marines, 400 bluejackets and a battery of field artillery, besides hundreds of carriages carrying dignitaries and friends. At a spot overlooking Washington in the National cemetery the body was lowered into the grave as a final salute was fired and the bugle sounded "taps."

PLAYERS OF SILENT GAME HOLD TOURNEY

The members of the Newark Checker Association met at the Y. M. C. A. last Friday evening and some very interesting games were played. The attendance was good and it is beginning to look like Newark will have a team of 10 or 12 strong players before the season has progressed very far. Howard and Stinson chose sides and each played some four games. Wins counted two points, draws one point and losses counted zero. Howard's team defeated Stinson's team for the first time of the season by a score of 22 to 13. The following is the score of the individual players:

YOUR STOMACH FEELS FINE IN FIVE MINUTES

As there is often some one in your family who suffers an attack of indigestion or some form of Stomach trouble, why don't you keep some Diapensin in the house handy?

This harmless blessing will digest anything you can eat without the slightest discomfort, and overcome a sour, gassy Stomach five minutes after.

Tell your pharmacist to let you read the formula, plainly printed on these 50-cent cases of Pape's Diapensin, then you will readily see why it makes indigestion, Sour Stomach, Heartburn, and other distress go in five minutes, and relieves at once such miseries as Belching of Gas, Eructations of sour, undigested food, Nausea, Headaches, Dizziness, Constipation and other Stomach disorders.

Some folks have tried so long to find relief from indigestion and Dyspepsia or an out-of-order stomach with the common every-day cures and verified that they have about made up their minds that they have something else wrong, or believe there is a case of Nervousness, Gastritis, Catarrh of the Stomach or Cancer.

This no doubt, is a serious mistake. Your real trouble is what you eat does not digest; instead it ferments and sour, turns to acid. Gas and Stomach poisons, which putrefy in the digestive tract and intestines, and besides, poison the breath with nauseous odors.

A hearty appetite, with thorough digestion, and without the slightest discomfort or misery of the Stomach is waiting for you as soon as you decide to try Pape's Diapensin.

DOCTORS' PRESCRIPTION FOR ECZEMA

The most advanced physicians of this country and Europe are now prescribing a wash of wintergreen thymol and other soothing and healing ingredients for the cure of Eczema Psoriasis and all other forms of skin trouble.

This preparation is known as the D. D. D. Prescription.

Dr. Holmes, the well known skin specialist, writes: "I am convinced that the D. D. D. Prescription is as much a specific for Eczema as is quinine for malaria. We have been prescribing the D. D. D. remedy for years."

I myself vouch for the D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema and absolutely guarantee that it will take away the itch the instant you apply it.

LICKING.

Our community was thrown into excitement last Monday morning on learning of the sudden death of Mr. John Taylor, formerly of this place, now of Newark. The friends have our sympathy.

Mrs. James Black, who has had a serious attack of pleurisy, is now on the road to recovery.

Miss Fay Hand of Newark spent Saturday night and Sunday at the home of her aunt, Mrs. J. H. Black.

Mr. Jehiel Tedrick of Centerburg attended services at this place last Sunday.

Mrs. Caley and son of Luray and Mrs. Lucy Slocum and daughter Sarah of Hebron spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert White, near this place.

Mrs. Newton of Columbus is visiting at the home of her son, Dr. J. O. Newton, at the parsonage.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Blade of Columbus, spent Saturday night and Sunday at the home of his parents, near here, and attended rally day.

Fred B. Larimore, M. D., of Pt. Washington, with his mother, Mrs. John Larimore of Granville, answered to the roll call last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jody Elis of near Millersport, Mrs. Leatherman and Miss Belle Larimore of Outville and Mr. Ellis Downey of Granville were present at the services last Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Willis Lees was so unfortunate as to have a horse killed by his cars last week.

When You Think

Of the pain which many women experience with every month it makes the gentleness and kindness always associated with womanhood seem to be almost a miracle. While in general no woman rebels against what she regards as a natural necessity there is no woman who would not gladly be free from this recurring period of pain.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well, and gives them freedom from pain. It establishes regularity, subdues inflammation, heals ulceration and cures female weakness.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence strictly private and sacredly confidential. Write without fear and without fee to World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y.

If you want a book that tells all about women's diseases, and how to cure them at home, send 21 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce to pay cost of mailing only, and he will send you a free copy of his great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser—revised, up-to-date edition, in paper covers. In handsome cloth-binding, 31 stamps.

The Secret Sewing Circle was entertained at the home of the Misses Mabel and Kate Wolfe on Thursday afternoon of last week. The afternoon was very pleasantly spent in embroidery, music, drawing and a button-hole contest, for which Mrs. G. W. Beall won first prize in both and Miss Louis Wolfe and Mrs. Bert Watson consolation prizes. A delicious luncheon was served. Those present were: Messrs. G. W. Beall, Bert Watson, Lois Wolfe, Fred Orr, Albert Wolfe and Misses Anna Osburn, Mae Stevens, Lois Wolfe, Laura Hoskinson, Helen Watson, Florence Beall, Winona Beall, Maude Parr and Masters John Beall and Frederick Watson.

Mr. Floyd Miller of the Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus, who has been at his home in Perryton, where he went to convalesce from a slight attack of typhoid fever, had the pleasure of entertaining about twenty of his friends on Tuesday evening. Mr. Miller will return to his work Thursday at the Mt. Carmel, where he has charge of the dairy department. The evening was spent in a social way, card playing and table games music and forfeit games being the most amusing features of the event. Those present were: Prof. Herbert Parr of the Perryton high school, Prof. P. V. Martin of the Black Run school, Foster Ashcraft, Jay Frampton, Dode Ashcraft, Dr. D. B. Rector, Donald Ashcraft of Perryton, Ray Lugenbeal and Jay Conger of the Lawn View Farm, Misses Vear Freese, Blanche Conger, Anna Mikesell, Hazel Freese, Madge Frampton, Bernice Rector, Cecelia Miller, Evelyn Miller and Miss Jessie Miller, instructor in the Perryton primary school, and Mrs. L. D. Miller. Dainty refreshments were served during the evening.

A new club recently organized had its initial meeting on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Bridget Prior in South Sixth street. The time was given over to euchre and six tables of players participated. The game concluded with the award of the first and second trophies going to Mrs. T. J. Egan and Mrs. Mame Stapleton, while Mrs. William Sauer received the lone hand souvenir.

A delicious luncheon was then served and a most enjoyable and informal half hour was devoted to a social time.

A very pleasant surprise was planned and successfully carried out on Mr. and Mrs. John James at their pretty home in West Main street Saturday evening.

Dancing and pedro were the entertainments and at a late hour lunch was served. Those present were Messrs and Mesdames Charles Ahl, Philip Copeland, Paul Latic, Eugene Banard, Carl Lantz, Erwin House, William Copeland, Paul Copeland, Misses Elizabeth Banard, Lucille Copeland Master Paul Vernon House, Harry Copeland, Richard Latic.

PIERCE-WELCH.

A wedding marked by great simplicity owing to the recent death of the groom's father was that of Miss Ramona Welch and Mr. Harry Pierce on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

The ceremony was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Welch, 59 Union street, in the presence of only the intimate friends and relatives. The front parlor was prettily arranged with ferns and dahlias and cosmos and here Rev. E. A. Vernon of the First Presbyterian church read the beautiful and impressive ring service. The young people were unattended.

Following the ceremony a delicious wedding dinner was served, the decorations prevailing in the dining room that were used in the parts of the home, a huge center of red dahlias being used.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierce went to house-keeping at once at 86 Eleventh street. Both the bride and groom have a le-

HEART AND HOME TALKS

BY BARBARA BOYD

How Two Women Earned a Living When Misfortune Came.

IN a little New England town, a woman is running a restaurant that is famous throughout the town for its cookery.

In a New York town, another woman is doing precisely the same thing, and so famous is her tea-room that people come from adjoining towns for the delicious little teas and luncheons and dinners she serves.

Both these women unexpectedly met with reverses. And to earn a living they turned to the one thing they knew how to do well—cook. And they are doing this one thing so well, they are making a comfortable living, have made a good business reputation, and are happy in their work. And they conduct their enterprises in such a dignified, business-like way, that not only are their townspeople proud of them, but the passing tourist goes on his way filled with respect for the good sense and ability they display.

If you enter this little New England town and inquire for a restaurant, as a party of motorists did, for there seemed to be no hotel, you are told with pride of this place, and your informant lays stress upon the cookery. If you miss it and inquire again at the far end of the town for some place to get a meal, once more you are told of this restaurant, and with particularunction your informant says, "She is a good cook," as if in memory tasting her viands. Your appetite is whetted, and you determine to find the place, which finally you do. It is unpretentious. And in the kitchen, presides the mistress of the establishment, a capable, energetic New England woman of about sixty. She does the cooking herself, and everything is, as the townspeople said, delicious. When you have finished, she steps to the door to receive payment. There is no particular style about the place, but there is good food. And the world wants good food.

The other woman has opened her home for her business, a lovely place filled with beautiful old furniture. She serves you a luncheon on a fine old mahogany table, and her china is exquisite. But the same capability is there. She looks after the cooking and she waits upon you herself, though you catch a glimpse of a little maid, as the mistress passes back and forth from the kitchen. She is a tall, white-haired woman, and as she serves you she chats; and from her talk as well as from her home, you know she is travelled and cultured.

But there is no apology for her work, no whining about hard luck; but instead a gracious dignity and a thoroughgoingness that make you respect every inch of her.

Many women like these two are suddenly brought face to face with poverty and the necessity of earning a living. They will be wise, if like these women, they do what they know how to do well. These women could cook, just as good as they know how to make it; and the world is making a pathway to their door, as some philosopher has said the world always will, if you have something the world wants.

This white-haired woman said, when drawn out, that when she was wondering what to do, a friend had said, "You make the most delicious bread I have ever eaten. Why not make bread?" "And I did, and that is how I got started," she concluded.

And no matter what may be your gift, whether it is cooking or sewing or gardening or what not, do not think you will lose the respect of those whose respect is worth having by taking up this work when misfortune makes it necessary. The one who does his work thoroughly and with dignity always has the respect of right-minded people. And the world takes off its hat to those who serve it satisfactorily.

REED-REIDEL.

Mr. William Reed and Miss Lucy M. Reidel were united in the bonds of holy wedlock Wednesday evening at the parsonage of the Holy Trinity Lutheran church by the Rev. C. C. Roof. Mr. and Mrs. Reed will make their home on Chestnut street and have the best wishes of their friends.

LEWIS-MARKHAM.

Mr. Raymond D. Lewis and Miss Elizabeth P. Markham both of Newark, were united in marriage Wednesday noon at the parsonage of the Holy Trinity Lutheran church, by the Rev. C. C. Roof. Immediately after the ceremony they started on their wedding trip East. The young couple have a host of friends who extend best wishes and hearty congratulations.

ITALIAN CRUISER

fered severely, and the lighthouse to the northwest was destroyed by the shells from the Garibaldi. There was no means of knowing what the loss of life was in Tripoli, but ample opportunity was given the defenders to escape.

When the Tafana left the scene no landing had been attempted by the Italians, and it was feared that during the night the town would be gillaged by nomad Arabs who had been hovering in the vicinity for some days.

Early Wednesday morning the first division of the Italian fleet, under Admiral Faravelli, resumed the bombardment. The Turkish garrison occupied a position behind the forts responded with a few shells which fell short.

The Italian commander endeavored to avoid damaging private dwellings, but some of them were destroyed, and the governor's palace and the three forts at the entrance of the port are in ruins. The churches and consulates have not been damaged.

The second division of the fleet, under Vice Admiral Thaon Di Revel, has approached close to Benghazi and Derna. A bombardment of these ports, it is understood, has been ordered to begin today. It is denied that any bluejackets will be landed in the immediate future. Such a landing may possibly be decided upon after the arrival of the expeditionary corps.

The bombardment is protracted because of the extreme care to avoid useless bloodshed and to respect the homes of noncombatants and the mosques. None of the Turkish shots reached the ships. Admiral Aubrey ordered that the ships abstain from using guns of the largest caliber, as they were unnecessary. From the battleships the officers could plainly see the effects of their shots and realized that in a few hours all the forts might be dismantled and their batteries silenced. This, however, would be at a cost of the lives of all the defenders, a result which the fleet was trying to avoid.

It was reported that the governor of Tripoli had been wounded.

BEE INSPECTOR PICKED.

Marysville, Oct. 5.—Glennwood Beard of Magnetic Springs, has been appointed apiary inspector in the state nursery and orchard inspection department. Inspector N. E. Shaw made the appointment. Beard has made a study of the subject and is considered one of the most competent authorities on bees in the state.

Tomato Fritters. Season highly one pint of strained tomatoes with salt, pepper and a little onion juice, then add three well beaten eggs. Cut stale bread in fingers an inch and a half square by four long, removing all crust; baste these with the prepared tomato until thoroughly soaked. Roll each carefully in fine dry crumbs and fry, three at a time, in deep, smoking hot fat. Drain for a moment on soft paper and send at once to the table. Junket. Allow one junket tablet to a quart of milk. Put two tablespoonfuls of sugar and a few spoonfuls of the measured milk in a saucepan and stir over the fire until the sugar is dissolved, then add the remainder of the milk and heat barely blood warm. Take from the fire, add any desired flavoring and the junket tablet, which has been crushed with a spoon and dissolved in a tablespoonful of cold water. Pour instantly into cups or a serving dish and let stand undisturbed for half an hour in the warm kitchen. When firmly set, carefully transfer to the ice box and serve very cold with cream.

War is declared.

A Shoe that Doubles a woman's Capacity for work or pleasure

A stylish shoe that's absolutely comfortable

No. 66, Red Cross Glazed Kid Lace, $3.50

In the ordinary shoe, at every step, the sole of the shoe rubs the ball of the foot. Thousands of rubs a day!

This continual rubbing draws the feet, makes them burn, throb, ache. The constant strain tortures the nerves of the feet and they in turn tire out the whole system.

The Red Cross Shoe saves a woman's strength, because it removes this strain. The sole of the Red Cross Shoe is flexible.

THE KNIGHT'S HELMET IN WINGS.

Above a pretty face, there are few types of headgear more chic-looking than the coil-de-mailles in flat feathers. The modern replica of the knight's cap of mail is softened about the brow with velvet many tones darker than the golden brown breasts and wings that form a coronet about the draped crown of the palest tone of tan velvet. The satin blouse of the same shade as the helmet's brim, has Robespierre revers of tan velvet, a low-cut waist coat of Hercules-braid trimmed satin and a flat collar of Richelieu lace.

PLAYERS OF SILENT GAME HOLD TOURNEY

The members of the Newark Checker Association met at the Y. M. C. A. last Friday evening and some very interesting games were played. The attendance was good and it is beginning to look like Newark will have a team of 10 or 12 strong players before the season has progressed very far. Howard and Stinson chose sides and each player played some player of the opposite side four games. Wins counted two points, draws one point and losses counted zero. Howard's team defeated Stinson's team for the first time of the season by a score of 22 to 18. The following is the score of the individual players:

TYPHOID

HOUSEHOLDERS CAUTIONED.
How to Avoid Infection.
Typhoid fever is prevalent. Thoroughly boil all water and milk used for drinking; all water used for cleansing uncooked catables and all used in brushing the teeth. Purify the waste pipes, sinks, closets, and cellars with Platt's Chlorides. Places where disease germs may develop, nooks behind plumbing and all spots that can't be reached by the scrubbing brush should be freely sprinkled with a mixture of one (1) part Platt's Chlorides and ten (10) parts of water. Do not neglect a liberal sprinkling of the cellar. To remove objectionable odors where sprinkling is inadvisable, keep a cloth or sponge moistened with the dilution mentioned. A little extra care now may prevent much sickness and expense. Platt's Chlorides is an odorless, colorless liquid disinfectant which instantly destroys foul odors and disease-breeding matter, and is sold by all druggists.

YOUR STOMACH FEELS FINE IN FIVE MINUTES

As there is often some one in your family who suffers an attack of indigestion or some form of Stomach trouble, why don't you keep some Diapiesin in the house handy?

This harmless blessing will digest anything you can eat without the slightest discomfort, and overcome a sour, gassy Stomach five minutes after.

Tell your pharmacist to let you read the formula, plainly printed on these 50-cent cases of Pape's Diapiesin, then you will readily see why it makes indigestion, Sour Stomach, Heartburn, and other distress go in five minutes, and relieves at once such miseries as Belching of Gas, Eructations of sour, undigested food, Nausea, Headaches, Dizziness, Constipation and other Stomach disorders.

Some folks have tried so long to find relief from indigestion and Dyspepsia or an out-of-order stomach with the common every-day cures advertised that they have about made up their minds that they have something else wrong, or believe theirs is a case of Nervousness, Gastritis, Catarrh of the Stomach or Cancer.

This no doubt, is a serious mistake. Your real trouble is what you eat does not digest; instead it ferments and sours, turns to acid, Gas and Stomach poison, which putrefy in the digestive tract and intestines, and besides, poison the breath with noxious odors.

A hearty appetite, with thorough digestion, and without the slightest discomfort or misery of the Stomach is waiting for you as soon as you decide to try Pape's Diapiesin.

DOCTORS' PRESCRIPTION FOR ECZEMA

The most advanced physicians of this country and Europe are now prescribing a wash of wintergreen thymol and other soothing and healing ingredients for the cure of Eczema Psoriasis and all other forms of skin trouble. This preparation is known as the D. D. D. Prescription.

Dr. Holmes, the well known skin specialist, writes: "I am convinced that the D. D. D. Prescription is as much a specific for Eczema as is quinine for malaria. We have been prescribing the D. D. D. remedy for years."

I myself vouch for the D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema and absolute guarantee that it will take away the itch the instant you apply it.

If you will call at my store I will be glad to let you have a $1.00 bottle on the guarantee that it will cost you nothing unless you find it does the work. And you decide. For that matter a trial bottle for 25 cents ought to be enough absolutely to prove the merits of the remedy.

Drop into my store, anyway and as I have seen a great many cases of skin trouble, I will give you free a pamphlet giving directions for bathing, diet, etc., for all kinds of skin trouble.

Ask for the D. D. D. pamphlet, "Cause and Cure of Skin Diseases." Get posted on this wonderful remedy today.

D. Miller. Dainty refreshments were served during the evening.

A new club recently organized had its initial meeting on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Bridget Prior in South Sixth street. The time was given over to euchre and six tables of players participated. The game concluded with the award of the first and second trophies going to Mrs. T. J. Egan, and Mrs. Mame Stapleton, while Mrs. William Sauer received the lone hand souvenir. A delicious luncheon was then served and a most enjoyable and informal half hour was devoted to a social time.

A very pleasant surprise was planned and successfully carried out on Mr. and Mrs. John James at their pretty home in West Main street Saturday evening. Dancing and pedro were the entertainments and at a late hour lunch was served. Those present were Messrs and Mesdames Charles Ahl, Philip Copeland, Paul Latic, Eugene Banard, Carl Lantz, Erwin House, William Copeland, Paul Copeland, Misses Elizabeth Banard, Lucille Copeland Master Paul Vernon House, Harry Copeland, Richard Latic.

PIERCE-WELCH.
A wedding marked by great simplicity owing to the recent death of the groom's father was that of Miss Ramona Welch and Mr. Harry Pierce on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. The ceremony was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Welch, 59 Union street, in the presence of only the intimate friends and relatives. The front parlor was prettily arranged with ferns and dahlias and cosmos and here Rev. F. A. Vernon of the First Presbyterian church read the beautiful and impressive ring service. The young people were unattended.

Following the ceremony a delicious wedding dinner was served, the decorations prevailing in the dining room that were used in the parts of the home, a huge center of red dahlias being used.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierce went to house-keeping at once at 86 Eleventh street. Both the bride and groom have a le-

HEART AND HOME TALKS

BY BARBARA BOYD

How Two Women Earned a Living When Misfortune Came.

IN a little New England town, a woman is running a restaurant that is famous throughout the town for its cookery. In a New York town, another woman is doing precisely the same thing, and so famous is her tea-room that people come from adjoining towns for the delicious little teas and luncheons and dinners she serves.

Both these women unexpectedly met with reverses. And to earn a living they turned to the one thing they knew how to do well—cook. And they are doing this one thing so well, they are making a comfortable living, have made a good business reputation, and are happy in their work. And they conduct their enterprises in such a dignified, business-like way, that not only are their townspeople proud of them, but the passing tourist goes on his way filled with respect for the good sense and ability they display.

If you enter this little New England town and inquire for a restaurant, as a party of motorists did, for there seemed to be no hotel, you are told with pride of this place, and your informant lays stress upon the cookery. If you miss it and inquire again at the far end of the town for some place to get a meal, once more you are told of this restaurant, and with particular unctious your informant says, "She is a good cook," as if in memory tasting her viands. Your appetite is whetted, and you determine to find the place, which finally you do. It is unpretentious. And in the kitchen, presides the mistress of the establishment, a capable, energetic New England woman of about sixty. She does the cooking herself, and everything is, as the townspeople said, delicious. When you have finished, she steps to the door to receive payment. There is no particular style about the place, but there is good food. And the world wants good food.

The other woman has opened her home for her business, a lovely place filled with beautiful old furniture. She serves you a luncheon on a fine old mahogany table, and her china is exquisite. But the same capability is there. She looks after the cooking and she waits upon you herself, though you catch a glimpse of a little maid, as the mistress passes back and forth from the kitchen. She is a tall, white-haired woman, and as she serves you she chats; and from her talk as well as from her home, you know she is travelled and cultured.

But there is no apology for her work, no whining about hard luck; but instead a gracious dignity and a thoroughgoingness that make you respect every inch of her.

Many women like these two are suddenly brought face to face with poverty and the necessity of earning a living. They will be wise, if like these women, they do what they know how to do well. These women could cook, and they knew the world needed food. And so they are serving food, just as good as they know how to make it; and the world is making a pathway to their door, as some philosopher has said the world always will, if you have something the world wants.

This white-haired woman said, when drawn out, that when she was wondering what to do, a friend had said, "You make the most delicious bread I have ever eaten. Why not make bread?" "And I did, and that is how I got started," she concluded.

And no matter what may be your gift, whether it is cooking or sewing or gardening or what not, do not think you will lose the respect of those whose respect is worth having by taking up this work when misfortune makes it necessary. The one who does his work thoroughly and with dignity always has the respect of right-minded people. And the world takes off its hat to those who serve it satisfactorily.

LEWIS-MARKHAM.

Mr. Raymond D. Lewis and Miss Elizabeth P. Markham both of Newark, were united in marriage Wednesday noon at the parsonage of the Holy Trinity Lutheran church, by the Rev. C. C. Roof. Immediately after the ceremony they started on their wedding trip East. The young couple have a host of friends who extend best wishes and hearty congratulations.

REED-REIDEL.

Mr. William Reed and Miss Lucy M. Reidel were united in the bonds of holy wedlock Wednesday evening at the parsonage of the Holy Trinity Lutheran church by the Rev. C. C. Roof. Mr. and Mrs. Reed will make their home on Chestnut street and have the best wishes of their friends.

fered severely, and the lighthouse to the northwest was destroyed by the shells from the Caribaldi. There was no means of knowing what the loss of life was in Tripoli, but ample opportunity was given the defenders to escape.

When the Tavana left the scene no landing had been attempted by the Italians, and it was feared that during the night the town would be pillaged by nomad Arabs who had been hovering in the vicinity for some days.

Early Wednesday morning the first division of the Italian fleet, under Admiral Faravelli, resumed the bombardment. The Turkish garrison occupied a position behind the forts responded with a few shells which fell short.

The Italian commander endeavored to avoid damaging private dwellings, but some of them were destroyed, and the governor's palace and the three forts at the entrance of the port are in ruins. The churches and consulates have not been damaged.

The second division of the fleet, under Vice Admiral Thaon Di Revel, has approached close to Benghazi and Derna. A bombardment of these ports, it is understood, has been ordered to begin today. It is denied that any bluejackets will be landed in the immediate future. Such a landing may possibly be decided upon after the arrival of the expeditionary corps.

The bombardment is protracted because of the extreme care to avoid useless bloodshed and to respect the homes of noncombatants and the mosques. None of the Turkish shots reached the ships. Admiral Aubrey ordered that the ships abstain from using guns of the largest caliber, as they were unnecessary. From the battleships the officers could plainly see the effects of their shots and realized that in a few hours all the forts might be dismantled and their batteries silenced. This, however, would be at a cost of the lives of all the defenders, a result which the fleet was trying to avoid.

It was reported that the governor of Tripoli had been wounded.

Tomato Fritters. Season highly one pint of strained tomatoes with salt, pepper and a little onion juice, then add three well beaten eggs. Cut stale bread in fingers an inch and a half square by four long, removing all crust; baste these with the prepared tomato until thoroughly soaked. Roll each carefully in fine dry crumbs and fry, three at a time, in deep, smoking hot fat. Drain for a moment on soft paper and send at once to the table.

Junket. Allow one junket tablet to a quart of milk. Put two tablespoonfuls of sugar and a few spoonfuls of the measured milk in a saucepan and stir over the fire until the sugar is dissolved, then add the remainder of the milk and heat barely blood warm. Take from the fire, add any desired flavoring and the junket tablet, which has been crushed with a spoon and dissolved in a tablespoonful of cold water. Pour instantly into cups or a serving dish and let stand undisturbed for half an hour in the warm kitchen. When firmly set, carefully transfer to the ice box and serve very cold with cream.

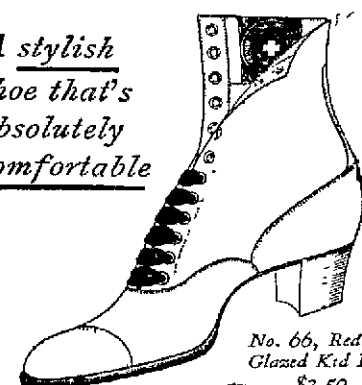

War is declared.

A Shoe that Doubles a woman's Capacity for work or pleasure

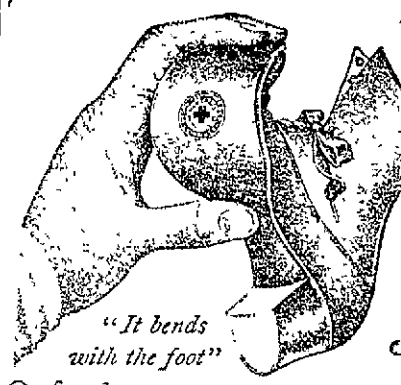

A stylish shoe that's absolutely comfortable

In the ordinary shoe, at every step, the sole of the shoe rubs the ball of the foot. Thousands of rubs a day!

This continual rubbing draws the feet, makes them burn, throb, ache. The constant strain tortures the nerves of the feet and they in turn tire out the whole system.

The Red Cross Shoe saves a woman's strength, because it removes this strain. The sole of the Red Cross Shoe is flexible.

WHAT THE PRESS AGENT SAYS

WIFE IN NAME ONLY TONIGHT.

The story is laid in Washington and New Haven; its characters are drawn from the old chivalrous south and the blue stockinged aristocracy of New England; its atmosphere redolent of college life, of youth, ve and intrigue.

There is nothing about it suggestive of the blood and thunder methods of ancient comedy dramas; it is a modern story of modern people sanely and with a touch of heartiness and human sympathy that over falls of success.

"Wife in Name Only" is worth while for every reason that enters to the makeup of a great play well told. The next matinee will be held Tuesday.

"QUINCY ADAMS SAWYER."

Now and then the theatre goes to a play that he would rather see than an entirely new one. It is a play that is not written very often, but once in a great while they like their appearance and they live for many years. "Quincy Adams Sawyer" the great rural drama success, which is remembered as a most sided hit when seen here before, a play that one has a taste for long again, and its return to this y at Auditorium Theatre, Monday, Oct. 9th. One night only will be hailed with genuine delight.

Montgomery and Stone. In "The Old Town" the musical comedy in which Montgomery and we will come for the first time to Auditorium, opening Tuesday night for one performance, Oct. 10. George Ade the author of "The Coleridge Widow," "The Fair Co-Ed," and dozen other successful comedies, written a farcically inclined story which might be as well played but music as with the tuneful illustrative score furnished by Gustav ders, providing, of course, that David Montgomery and Fred Stone continued to play the two leading characters. "The Old Town" tells the story of two ambitious young men who ran off from a village in California to seek their fortunes in the east. They engaged and were eventually stranded by a one-horse country circus and the vicissitudes of their deviously contrived homecoming furnish much of the fun.

"Thy Neighbor's Wife."

Daniel Frohman, who will present in this city at the Auditorium Theatre, Wednesday, Oct. 11, one night only, "Thy Neighbor's Wife," a new American comedy with Arthur Byron, was responsible for the first appearance in New York of many of our best known stars, such as Maude Adams, Henrietta Crossman, Margaret Anglin and others. It is claimed that he has used equally sound judgment in selecting Pamela Gaythorne for the leading role in "Thy Neighbor's Wife." While most of Miss Gaythorne's reputation has been gained in England, her performances last year in New York, where she played many of the leading roles at the New Theatre, makes it certain that in a short time she will be one of America's most popular actresses.

The Orpheum.

The bill which opens today at the Arcade playhouse is headed by Mlle. Loona and her famous band of Indians. Mlle. Loona's company are the only Indians in the world who have ever tried to sing grand opera, which they do, and sing in Italian, too. They are said to have excellent voices which have been carefully trained and cultivated, until today they are offering not only one of the most extraordinary, but one of the most pleasing singing acts before the public. They appear in their native costumes, their quilled buckskin garments and war bonnets giving the act a most picturesque setting.

Smith and Arado will offer an act that is laughable, not for the depth of their wit, but for the ludicrous way of springing it. They promise to be a very clever team with an excellent line of eccentric comedy and dancing. Dancing Stone is another novelty of the bill. He has his own unique way of entertaining and always makes a hit. Clever Conkey does a monologue while juggling many Indian clubs in every conceivable way. Mr. Conkey is quite a comedian and combining this with his juggling makes his turn a very novel one. The Orpheumscope has a feature film. Remember the Sunday concerts at 2:25 and 7:30.

FURS AND JEWELRY STOLEN BY WOMEN.

Austin, Pa., Oct. 5.—The first arrests for robbery, following the disastrous flood of last Saturday, were made yesterday when two foreign women were caught by a state trooper prying open the lid of a trunk. The women, when arrested, appealed to State Senator F. E. Baldwin to intercede for them, but he refused. They were taken to the county jail at Coudersport. Their home was then searched and furs and jewelry valued at $1000 or more was recovered, many pieces being identified by the owners.

The visit of Governor John K. Tener, the recovery of seven more bodies and the funerals of a number of other victims, coupled with a further development of the system of cleaning the ruins and feeding the augmented force of workmen, marked the day as one of the greatest progress thus far in relieving the stricken town.

With the bodies recovered yesterday, there are but 30 persons unaccounted for according to the officials. Six funerals were held yesterday, five from the Swedish church, the only one left standing. The caskets were placed side by side before the pulpit at one time, and as one service was completed, a minister for another denomination would succeed for the next funeral. Each had its little group of mourners.

Austin, Pa., Oct. 5.—The Bayless Paper Company is prepared to present its case to the inquest board when the investigation into the bursting of its huge dam here is begun.

A staff of seven engineers completed an inspection of the dam today. Edward Raymond, the designer of the dam, will make reports for the company. A verdict of unavoidable accident is predicted by many.

HEALTHY MOTHERS

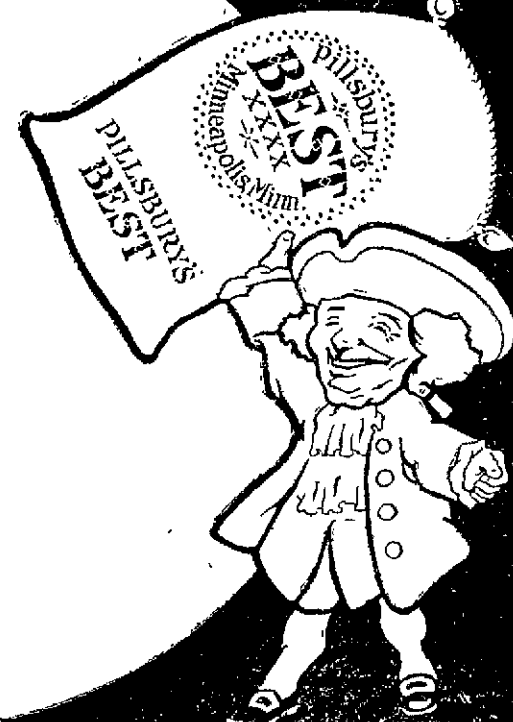

Women who bear children and remain healthy are those who prepare their systems in advance of baby's coming. Unless the mother aids nature in its pre-natal work the crisis finds her system unequal to the demands made upon it, and she is often left with weakened health or chronic ailments. No remedy is so truly a help to nature as Mother's Friend, and no expectant mother should fail to use it. It relieves the pain and discomfort caused by the strain on the ligaments, makes pliant and elastic those fibres and muscles which nature is expanding, prevents numbness of limbs, and soothes the inflammation of breast glands. The system being thus prepared by Mother's Friend dispels the fear that the crisis may not be safely met. Mother's Friend assures a speedy and complete recovery for the mother, and she is left a healthy woman to enjoy the rearing of her child. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores.

Write for our free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

It's stimulating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow abundantly long, strong and beautiful. It at once imparts a sparkling brilliancy and velvety softness to the hair, and a few weeks' use will cause new hair to sprout all over scalp. Use it every day for a short time, after which two or three times a week will be sufficient complete whatever growth you desire.

You can surely have pretty, soft, lustrous hair, lots of it, if you will just get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine from any drug store or toilet store and try it as directed.

KING MANUEL MAY GET BACK HIS THRONE

London, Oct. 5.—The fate of the Portuguese republic hangs in the balance today. The long-heralded counter revolution is in progress, and the royalist colony here is confidently predicting that the end of the republic is at hand. The marquis de la Creddio, ex-King Manuel's secretary, issued a statement that royalists have occupied the northern provinces of Portugal and claimed the monarchy. Republican troops are said to be deserting the government by hundreds. King Manuel is still in Richmond, but is believed to be planning a secret departure at the first news of royalist successes.

DOOLEY HELD ON SERIOUS CHARGE

William Dooley is held at the city prison on a charge of cutting with intent to wound, the charge being preferred by George Plum, who alleges that Dooley attacked him with a knife near Fifth and Canal streets, Wednesday afternoon. Officers arrested Dooley in West Newark, where he was waiting for a car. Dooley is a colored man, while his alleged victim is white. The defendant will be given a hearing before Mayor Ankele Friday morning.

MONEY READY FOR BUCKEYE LAKE

Columbus, Oct. 5.—Five thousand dollars, with which to make necessary repairs at Buckeye Lake will soon be available to the state board of public works and it will be used for that purpose. The money will be used in stopping up many leaks as possible at Buckeye Lake, in order to keep a good level of water in the lake next summer.

ETHEL BARRYMORE IS ILL

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 5.—Ethel Barrymore, the actress, became ill suddenly from peritonitis last evening and cancelled engagements for the next 10 days. Russell G. Colt, her husband, has been summoned from New York. As soon as she can be removed she will be taken to a Chicago hospital.

MERE HANDFUL

that were not exactly in the nature of compliments. Following Mr. Montgomery, Attorney Link G. Russell was recognized by the chairman of the evening, Director of Safety Scott. Mr. Russell had fire in his eye and he went after the machine red-hot. He appealed for harmony and told how necessary it was for party success. He evidently had in mind the great factional differences that exist among the Republicans of Newark, for it is a well known fact that they are badly split upon the wet and dry issue and that a plan has been formulated whereby candidates are canvassing among the dries as dry candidates, and when they strike wet territory they are wet. It is a case of "playing both ends against the middle."

Mr. Russell told of the necessity of all standing together and working for a common cause. Factionalism never succeeded, he said, and he hoped that campaign managers would be chosen that would be acceptable to all the party and not in the interest of just a few.

Attorney E. S. Randolph was the next speaker and he favored a public speaking campaign. He wanted the issues clearly presented and wanted the candidates to win or fall on the issues. There was much squirming on this suggestion, especially among several candidates who head the ticket and who know that they would not dare stand for such a suggestion, as they would not then be able to select both wet and dry votes. Mr. Randolph thought it the best plan to announce the issue and stand by it, and he reiterated that a public speaking campaign should be the policy, but there is about as much chance for it as there is for the famed dog with tallow legs which chased the asbestos cat through the infernal regions. No, indeed; no "issues" will be discussed publicly by the Republicans during the campaign, thank you.

Mr. Randolph was followed by that loyal old wheel-horse, Dr. S. H. McCleery, whom the "interests" thought best to knife when he was a candidate for the nomination for a second term as mayor. The doctor advised that all get together and divide the city up into districts, put men in command and then hustle for votes. Elegant theory, but the machine will conduct the campaign and issue the instructions to the ward workers.

It remained for Daniel Hayes, though, to throw a damper on the meeting and show it up. He stated that he was surprised at the poor attendance at the meeting after the publicity it had received at the hands of the party's official organ. It was no meeting at all and the mere handful present foretold disaster at the election. There was no enthusiasm and it seemed that none could be worked up. Mr. Hayes hopes that the Republicans would wake up and exhibit a little ginger. "We cannot win if you do not display a little enthusiasm," said Mr. Hayes in closing his remarks.

Mayor John M. Ankele, defeated by Royal C. Bigbee for the Republican nomination for mayor, was the next speaker. There was a twinkle in his eye as he predicted success for the man who would succeed him in office. He pledged allegiance of himself and those holding appointive office under his administration, and stated that they would do all they could for the good of the cause.

Royal C. Bigbee, Republican candidate for mayor, was next called upon, and stated that he was not a public speaker and that he was not a public speaker when he got up to address a public gathering. He said that he believed the people were interested and he was sure that the ticket could win out if the proper effort was put forth by the campaign managers and candidates. Mr. Bigbee did not commit himself, however, on the wet and dry question, probably thinking that it was not necessary after having been nominated on a dry platform and pledge for law enforcement.

Councilman Herman Elsner was the next speaker. He stated facts right from the shoulder and his advice was more than excellent, but it will probably be overlooked when the managers assume control of the campaign Friday evening. Mr. Elsner stated that old time methods would not do. The boss, he said, could not sit back, with his feet cocked up on the desk, smoking a good cigar and issuing orders to a stenographer who conducted a "letter" campaign. The people must be reached personally and come in contact with the candidates. Mr. Elsner's speech brimmed full of excellent suggestions and was delivered with sincerity.

Attorney Ralph Torpelli was called upon, and he made some earnest suggestions regarding the conduct of the campaign. They were accepted by his auditors, but will fall upon deaf ears when carried to the powers that be.

Leonard H. Kelly, Republican candidate for city auditor, was the next speaker. Mr. Kelly announced that he was not a public orator and that the present was his first attempt at "speechifying." He predicted success for the entire ticket and stated that he was meeting with much encouragement in his campaign.

Carl Dayton, D. M. Jones, F. S. Neighbor, Dr. C. B. Kellar, S. M. Brown, Harvey Sheppard and others made remarks, mostly of the same trend, advising that a city committee be chosen that would deal rightly by all members of the party, one that any Republican might call upon and feel himself at home. The meeting adjourned shortly after 9 o'clock.

When the meeting was called to order by Director Scott, there was by actual count just twenty-three people present and before it closed an additional dozen had entered the hall. Enthusiasm was lacking and a coolness pervaded the meeting that was painfully noticeable.

After adjournment one enthusiast (?) said: "Well, it may look good to some of the candidates, but, to tell the truth, I can't figure out where we even have a look-in. If the truth were known and we could see their ballots, it's an even bet that some of the candidates themselves are going to support a part of the Democratic ticket on election day."

CONFIDENCE

We Back Up Our Statements With Our Personal Reputation and Money.

We are so positive that we can relieve constipation, no matter how chronic it may be, that we offer to furnish the medicine free of all cost if we fail.

We think that it is worse than useless to attempt to cure constipation with cathartic drugs. Cathartics may do much harm. They may cause a reaction, irritate and weaken the bowels, and make constipation more chronic.

Constipation is often accompanied and may be caused by weakness of the nerves and muscles of the large intestines or colon. To expect a cure you must therefore tone up and strengthen those parts and restore them to healthier activity.

The discovery of the active principle of our remedy involved the labor of skillful research chemists. This remedy produces results such as are expected from the best of the best-known intestinal tonics, and it is particularly prompt in its results.

STOPS A DEEP-SEATED COUGH IN A HURRY

A Family Supply of Unequaled Cough Remedy for 50c—Money Refunded if it Fails.

Cough medicines as a rule, contain a large proportion of plain syrup—a good ingredient, but one that anyone can make. A pint of granulated sugar, with 1-2 pint of warm water, stirred for 2 minutes, gives you as good syrup as money can buy.

A 50-cent bottle of Pinex, mixed in a pint bottle with home made sugar syrup gives you a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready mixed for $2.50. There's a clear saving of $2.00. Full directions in package. And money couldn't buy a quicker better remedy. Takes hold at once gives almost instant relief, and usually stops the most obstinate deep seated cough in 24 hours. It stimulates the appetite, is slightly laxative and has a pleasant taste—children take it willingly. Splendid for hoarseness, asthma, chest pains, and other throat troubles, and unequaled for prompt results in whooping cough.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of imported Norway White Pine extract, and is rich in guaiacol and other natural healing pine elements. Simply mix it as directed with sugar syrup or strained honey and it is ready for use.

Used in more homes in the United States and Canada than any other cough remedy. Pinex has often been imitated, but never successfully, for nothing else will produce the same results. The genuine is guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. Certificate of guarantee is wrapped in each package. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to the Pinex Co., Fort Wayne, Indiana.

Lionel De Jersey Harvard Is the First of That Name To Enter Famous College

Lionel De Jersey Harvard, who can trace his kinship to John Harvard, the founder of Harvard College, is a freshman in the institution that bears his name. He is the first person named Harvard to enter his name on the rolls of the school. Young Harvard is 18 years old and is a native of England. He is a descendant of a second cousin of John Harvard. The new student is a modest chap and was surprised at the attention he attracted when he reached Cambridge. He is something of an athlete and hopes to be able to represent Harvard in some sport.

FRANKLIN TOWNSHIP.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dumm moved to Newark Tuesday. The heavy rain of last Thursday evening did a great deal of damage through here. Many wheat fields are badly washed.

The Clay Lick band, largely a Franklin product, furnished the music for the county fair Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Carl C. Motherspaw have returned from their western wedding trip. They visited St. Louis, Kansas City Chicago and various points in Kansas.

B. F. Bolen and family, who have lived on the Evans farm for a year, will move to Newark soon.

The Franklin Grange held a very enjoyable and profitable meeting on Thursday evening last. New members are added at nearly every meeting. A piano has been purchased, and an orchestra composed of members of the grange enlivens meetings with choice music. The next meeting will discuss the constitutional convention.

F. C. Osburn is attending the fair this week with his herd of Poland-China hogs.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Phillips of South Newark was buried at the Lutheran cemetery here Monday.

An old fashioned belling was given Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Taylor at the groom's home Monday evening. Marion Dushimer, Floyd Orr, William Dispenette, Harold Hirst and Misses Helen Evans, Florence Dushimer and Marie Hirst are attending the Newark schools this year. The holy communion service will be celebrated at the Lutheran church next Sunday at 10.30. Services also at 7.30. Preparatory services Friday at 7.30 p. m.

COUNTY OPTION ELECTIONS TO BE HELD THIS MONTH

Columbus, Oct. 5.—Closely contested county option fights are in sight in Meigs, Athens, Scioto and Columbiana counties, at present dry, and in which wets yesterday filed petitions for elections under the Rose law. Saloons were voted out of these counties three years ago. Commissioners last night set Oct. 26 as the date for the election in Scioto county.

The Meigs county petition contained 2771 signatures, 250 more than the wet vote cast at the former election. The Athens petition contained 5000 names, nearly 50 per cent of the vote cast at the last presidential election. Wets in Scioto county secured 4912 signatures to their petition, while those in Columbiana county had nearly 6000 signers. In many districts in Columbiana county the number of signers exceeds the total dry vote of three years ago. The Scioto county petition contained nearly 1000 names in excess of the number required.

Explaining the apparent ease with which the wets secured signatures to their petitions, Wayne B. Wheeler, superintendent of the Ohio Anti-Saloon League, said last night that it was because the vote last year for governor fell 200,000 below that for president in 1908. Thirty-five per cent of the vote at the last general election is required for petitions.

SCIENCE MAKING LIFE EASY.

The small things in life are usually the most important—for example, a cake of poor soap may not only spoil the week's wash and the temper of the housekeeper, but ruin valuable fabrics. For twenty-five years we have spent a large sum of money educating people as to the soap situation, and it has paid us so far. We will continue the good health campaign and invite you most cordially to give Hewitt's Easy Task soap a trial, giving you the opportunity to do so on the most liberal basis we can offer. Buy two cakes from your grocer for ten cents, and if the first does not please you, return the other and get your money back. Is this good enough?

Repentance is frequently an afterthought to the humiliation of being found out.

SOUNDS LIKE A ZANESVILLE FAIRY STORY

(Zanesville Times-Recorder.) Ben Wright, a stock-raiser of Homer, O., met a stranger in Newark Wednesday afternoon who promised to show him all around Zanesville, but when they arrived here the stranger had all of Wright's money and the latter had to appeal to the police for a place to stay all night.

"If I meet that fellow again I'll punch his face, but he seemed so nice and I treated him like a brother," said Wright in telling of the him-flam worked on him.

He met the stranger in Newark by accident. Wright was Zanesville bound to visit the aunt of his adopted daughter and told the stranger his plans.

"I know where she lives. I live in Zanesville, too. I'll show you right where you can find her," said the stranger. The two boarded a car. Wright did not remember how he lost his money, but it was gone when he arrived here.

The stranger took Wright to the Arlington hotel and told him to wait in the office a minute. The stranger went out a rear door and that was the last seen of him.

FIRST DAY'S RACES WERE INTERESTING

FAIR SIZED CROWD WATCHES THE SPEED BOYS ON HALF MILE TRACK AT FAIR.

Newark Horses Make Good Showing in Various Classes—Good Program Today and Friday.

The Licking county fair was opened in earnest Wednesday afternoon, when the first day's race program was carried out as scheduled. The races were good and the crowd was fair-sized, considering it was the first day's race program.

Three races were finished Wednesday, all that were scheduled. The races were interesting, each heat being close and the spectators frequently jumped to their feet as the horses made the turn into the home stretch the drivers urging the horses with whip and voice in the final dash to the wire.

The 2:30 trot was the first race and six starters took the field. Harry L., a sorrel gelding owned by C. E. Karnes of Canal Dover, won the race in straight heats, though he was pressed closely by Monon H., a bay mare owned by R. M. Critchfield of Mt. Vernon, and McArthur, a bay horse owned by C. M. Rowlee of Lancaster.

Monon H. and McArthur each contested warmly for second money, but the Mt. Vernon horse was successful, winning second place in the first and third heats.

The seventeen pace was the most exciting event of the afternoon, requiring four heats to pick the winner. Harry Stone, a brown gelding owned by S. S. Ruble of Logan, was the winner of the race. He finished in sixth position in the first heat, but came under the wire in first place in the last three heats.

Arlington, a brown gelding owned by Ed Fogwell of Xenia, made a great start in the race, finishing in first position in the first heat, but each heat found her another position behind the leader, until the fourth, when she came in behind Baronwood in fourth place.

The three-year-old trot for a purse of $300 was a two-in-three race and was won easily in two straight heats by Sylvia, a black mare owned by N. Ramsey of Sunbury. Second and third money in this race was divided between Aura Bell and Garnet M., both Newark horses.

CREW OF TUG MAUMEE HAD CLOSE CALL

Cleveland, Oct. 5.—The government dredge Maumee, valued at $50,000, is pounding to pieces in a high sea on the east breakwater at Cleveland's harbor entrance, following the rescue of Captain George L. Sheldon and her crew of 12 by the life-saving crew with the northwest wind blowing almost a gale.

The Maumee, in tow of the government tug Spear, left Sandusky for Cleveland early yesterday. A scow was also in tow. With a northwest wind blowing about 50 miles an hour and a high sea on, the line to the scow parted off Avon Point.

The Cleveland life-saving crew sighted the trouble and departed for the scene. The tug Lutz also went to the rescue.

The life savers and the Lutz followed in behind the two crafts. Near the harbor entrance last night the line parted between the Spear and the Maumee. The Lutz tried to get lines to them, but each time the line parted. When the Maumee started to drift on to the breakwater, the life savers managed to mount the breakwater and throw lines, by which the crew were hauled to safety before the dredge struck.

The Lutz managed to get a line to the Spear and saved her. The scow was picked up near Avon by another tug.

PIMPLES REMOVED QUICKLY

The New Calcium Sulphide Treatment Does Wonders to Every Kind of Skin Eruption.

Trial Package Sent Free to Prove It.

You don't want to wait forever and a day to get rid of your pimples or other skin eruptions. You want to get rid of them right now. Next week you may want to go somewhere where you wouldn't like to have to take the pimples along.

"I Got Rid of My Pimples in a Few Days With Stuart's Calcium Wafers."

You can get rid of them just in time by taking Stuart's Calcium Wafers.

These wonderful little workers have cured bad boils in three days and some cases of skin diseases in a week.

They contain as their main ingredient the most thorough quick and effective blood cleanser known, calcium sulphide.

Remember this too, that most pimple treatments reek with poison. And they are miserably slow besides.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers have not a trace of poison in them. They are free from mercury biting drugs or venomous opiates. This is absolutely guaranteed. They cannot do any harm, but they always do good—good that you can see in the mirror before your own eyes a few days after.

Don't be any longer humiliated by having a splotchy face. Don't have strangers stare at you or allow your friends to be ashamed of you because of your face.

Your blood makes you what you are. The men and women who forge ahead are those with pure blood and pure faces.

FIRE MAY CAUSE POSTPONEMENT OF THE EXECUTION

Columbus, Oct. 5.—Fire, starting at 5 o'clock last evening presumably from an explosion of gasoline in the tin shop in the second story of the laundry building at the penitentiary, gutted the interior of the structure, destroyed a quantity of prisoners' clothes and put out of commission the dynamo which was to have furnished current for the electrocution this midnight of Charles Justice, Green county murderer.

That the dynamo can be dried, overhauled and tested in time for the electrocution was the opinion last night of Warden Jones and F. L. Pike, chief engineer of the prison. Work on its repair was continued through the night.

Upon arrival, firemen sent a stream of water over the machine, but immediately were called off by prison attaches. When too late to prevent damage to the dynamo, it was covered with a tarpaulin.

Estimate of damages was not made last night, although Warden Jones said he thought they would not exceed $3,000. Chief expense to the state, probably will be incurred by the necessary purchase of new laundry machinery. That which went through the fire was antiquated and of little value. Damage to the building consisted of destruction to interior woodwork and the roof. Clothes which burned were principally underwear and the uniform shirts of members of the prison band and choir. Some hospital beds furnishings went up in smoke.

Falling glass cut a vein in the hand of Charles Jiams, extra fireman on truck No. 1. His injury was not serious.

The alarm was sounded as the last company of prisoners had left the dining hall and been locked up for the night. To prevent possible escape during the excitement, a double guard was placed on the walls and extra men patrolled the grounds inside the stone fence.

That the remaining part of the building, which is three stories high, may be razed and another erected in its place is a probability. The laundry building burned with considerable damage 20 years ago.

EASY TO GET RID OF DANDRUFF

Dandruff means that down near the roots of your hair there is a vast army of little invisible germs or microbes.

And this army never sleeps; it destroys the nourishment that the hair must have in order to grow vigorously and abundantly.

PARISIAN SAGE now sold all over America will destroy these germs and at the same time furnish the hair with just the proper nourishment to make hair grow lustrous and luxuriant.

PARISIAN SAGE is guaranteed by EVANS' DRUG STORE to banish dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp or money back. It is a delightful hair dressing that wins instant favor with refined women. Sold for only 50 cents a large bottle by Evans' Drug Store and druggists everywhere. Girl with Auburn hair on every carton and bottle.

Oil and Railroads.

An interesting feature shown in the report on petroleum for 1910 by the United States geological survey now in preparation, is the statement of the extent to which oil enters into railroad transportation.

The total length of railroad line operated by the use of fuel oil in 1910 was 21,075 miles, a truckage equivalent to that of practically five transcontinental lines stretching across the United States from ocean to ocean.

Some of the lines that use oil, however, also use coal. The number of barrels of fuel oil—of 42 gallons each—consumed by the railroads of the country, is stated to have been 24,526,833 in 1910. This includes 768,762 barrels used by the railroads as fuel otherwise than in locomotives. The total number of miles run by oil burning engines in 1910 was 88,318,947. This would have carried one engine or train around the world approximately 3530 times.

Glittering generalities are the imitation gems of speech.

GEIGER DISAPPEARS FROM LIMA HOME

Lima, O., Oct. 5.—Christian Geiger, whose sentence of 17 years in the penitentiary on a charge of complicity in the robbery of James Yoakum three years ago was affirmed by the supreme court has disappeared from his home here.

His son, William, said his father was away on business and would return Saturday. Sheriff Watt has been unable to ascertain Geiger's whereabouts and fears trouble in apprehending him. Geiger is more than 70 years old. Relatives fear he has committed suicide.

Averts Awful Tragedy.

Timely advice given Mrs. C. Willoughby of Marengo, Wis. (R.No. 1), prevented a dreadful tragedy and saved two lives. Doctors had said her frightful cough was a "consumption" cough and could do little to help her. After many remedies failed, her aunt urged her to take Dr. King's New Discovery. "I have been using it for some time," she wrote, "and the awful cough has almost gone. It also saved my little boy when taken with a severe bronchial trouble." This matchless medicine has no equal for throat and lung troubles. Price 50c. and $1. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by F. D. Hall.

SHAW WITHDRAWS.

Wapakoneta, Oct. 5.—Melville D. Shaw, one time Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, who some time ago announced himself as a candidate for delegate to the constitutional convention from Auglaize county, has withdrawn from the race, leaving S. A. Hoskins of this city a clear field.

NEW ARMORY ACCEPTED.

Marysville, Oct. 5.—Colonel B. L. Barger, Colonel Joseph M. Reiger, Major Henry B. Ramey and Major Charles H. Bell of the state armory commission, were in Marysville yesterday, accompanied by Architect Charles J. Williams of Dayton, and inspected the new state armory building, the first to be erected in Ohio by state funds. The building cost $20,000.

ROOM A-21

By J. H. LAMORE.

I am not a bit superstitious. The thirteenth of the month, though it came on Friday, would have no terrors for me. Black cats, ghosts, walking under a ladder and other forms of superstitious fears are unknown to me. I had as soon set sail on Friday, the thirteenth, as on Thursday, the twelfth, and a whole string of hoodoos would have no effect on me. Nor do I for a moment entertain the notion that the peaceful dead are going to vacate their narrow beds in the cemetery to walk forth at midnight and terrify me with their wraithful appearances. I do not drink nor use drugs. But there are some very strange things in this old world of ours.

Several years ago I went on business to a city in northern Ohio and stopped at the Atlas Hotel, a house that had the patronage of middle-class folks. It was 10 o'clock at night when I arrived, and a sleepy clerk told the bellhop to show me to A-21. He explained that a convention in the city had crowded all the hotels and that A-21 was the only room left in the Atlas. This room was the second on the first floor above.

It looked out on the street below. There were two windows in it, both facing the street, one door, which led into the corridor, and a small clothes closet, which when I went in to hang up my clothing, I found to be absolutely empty. There were the customary chair, washstand and iron bed. One picture, that of some historical scene, completed the details.

I was very sleepy, and, after locking my door and turning the key in the lock, started to switch off the electric light and get into bed. However, as I turned the key, I noticed above the lock an old-fashioned bolt, and this I shoved into its socket. There was no need, so far as I could discover, for this extra precaution, but the bolt was there, so I used it. The windows were lowered from the top, each six inches, and were so fastened inside that while the occupant of the room could raise and lower the top sash at will, they could not be opened from the outside. Nor, strange as it may seem, were they so constituted that the lower part could be moved at all.

All of these details I mention minutely, for they are necessary to the story that is to follow.

I could not have been in bed very long until I fell asleep. I think I slept soundly, too, for I was very tired, and I am sure I did not dream. However, at midnight (I know it was midnight, for I heard the city hall clock strike 12), I was awakened with the vague feeling of a presence in the room. I knew there could be no one else in the room, and I saw and heard nothing. But there was the feeling, nevertheless, that there was a presence there besides my own.

I made up my mind that it was all imagination and was closing my eyes to go to sleep again, when I thought I heard a sound at the door. Looking toward the door I saw what appeared to be a phosphorescent light along the bolt and over the key. Then, apparently with no visible or corporal power manifest, the key turned in the lock and the bolt shot back. The door slowly opened, noiselessly, and into the room came an apparition, or wraith, and the door closed behind it. I cannot adequately describe this strange appearance. It was without shape or form, and so far as I could see, did not possess substance. Instead, it was more like a blurred, indistinct wave of light than anything else.

The thing, or ghost, or person, just as you will, moved or floated slowly and with no noise whatever, to the wall of the room opposite my bed, and seemed to hover about the wall, at a point slightly above the range of my eyes as I lay in bed. Then, as if with a finger of phosphorescent light, the strange finger seemed to write on the wall. And this is what I saw, in bright letters of golden light, the one word "Dead!"

Thus having done, the wraith moved back to the door, opened and passed out of it, and then the door was closed and the same dim light played on key and bolt, and they were turned exactly as I had turned them when I went to bed.

Being entirely free from superstition, as I asserted at the outset, I had no notion at all that I had seen a ghost or a vision. Instead, as a rational man, I charged the whole thing up to nightmare. Perhaps I reasoned, it was all due to having eaten a rather heavy supper.

But, within the next hour the strange performance was twice repeated. Now, I cannot remember, in all my life, of having had a dream twice, even on two different nights. Certainly, I told myself, I have never thrice, in the same night, dreamed the same dream. Must be some trick of the light, I fancied. But next morning I abandoned this theory, for on examination I found that there was no chance whatever for light to have been thrown into the room in any such fashion. The door was locked and bolted, as I had left it the night before.

When I went down to breakfast, the night clerk was still on duty, and he asked me with what I thought to be extreme solicitude, how I slept. I said nothing of what I had seen and told him that I had slept well, with the exception of having had a nightmare, and that, as I was to remain in the city a week, I should like to have the same room every night. He said I might have it, but that as the crowd of the day before had gone and the convention that had filled the hotel was gone, if there was any other room that was more convenient, I might have it. I decided to keep room A-21. The truth is, I wanted to investigate and see, if I could, just what had caused the manifestations of the night before, and which, as the day wore on, I became more and more convinced, was put before my eyes while I was fully awake, and was, therefore, no dream.

The second night I took extra precautions to examine the room, also to pull down the blinds at the windows so as to shut out the street lights entirely, then I made sure that I had really locked the door with key and bolt. Also, I set a chair against the door.

As on the night before, I was soon asleep, and also, as on that night, at 12 o'clock the performance was repeated, and thrice the presence of the turning of key and bolt, and the writing of the one word, in letters of light, on the wall.

Now I knew it was no dream. There was something else, something that needed looking into. Here was a strange phenomenon, or else I was losing my reason and giving way to hallucinations. I determined to call in another man and ask his aid in deciphering this mystery.

I recalled having a friend in the city, a former associate in school, who from his earliest days of learning had been a delver into the mysterious. He was now a celebrated detective, one to whom mysterious murders and other matters involving not only the skill of the sleuth but also the learning of scientists were entrusted. His name was John Marsden. I knew that, however busy he might be, he would be willing to help me out. My only fear was that I might be losing my mind, and so might have imagined I saw what was not to be seen.

I bunted up Marsden and told him my story. Ere I had spoken half a dozen words, he surprised me by asking if I had slept in room A-21. I told him I had, and wanted to know what there was about the room that made it peculiar. Then he asked me if I had not noticed that the bottoms of the windows were fastened in so that they could not be opened. I remembered that this was so.

"Well," he said, "a crazy carpenter did the woodwork in that building. Room A-21 was the last one to be finished. His fellow workmen had observed, by small signs, for several days that he was going insane, but had said nothing, thinking that perhaps they were mistaken. But on the morning that he put these windows in the contractor came into the room where the carpenter was working. He saw how the windows were built, but did not dream that the workman was fast becoming a maniac. That there should be such careless work angered him, and he told the poor carpenter that nobody but a crazy man would build a window like that.

"The mention of the word crazy was the last straw that upset the carpenter's mind. Suddenly he became a raving maniac, and struck the contractor a blow over the head with his hatchet, that cleaved the skull and killed the man instantly. It happened that the other workmen had left the building for some material, so there were no witnesses. But the maniac, suddenly recovering his reason in part, started at his bleeding victim and exclaimed: 'Dead!' Then with his carpenter's pencil he wrote on the wall, perhaps exactly where you saw the letters, that one dreadful word, 'Dead.'

"He then fell unconscious beside the body of his victim. The other workmen, coming in soon, found both of them.

The dead man was sent to an undertaker and the carpenter to the hospital. In the hospital he entirely recovered his reason and told what had happened. But the strain was too much for him and he died within two days. Since that time it has been said that room A-21 is haunted by the carpenter, who comes every night and writes the one word on the wall. Regular patrons of the hotel avoid that room, and it is never assigned to any one but a stranger, and then only when the hotel is filled. The management several times has talked of re-arranging the rooms so as to get rid of this one, but there has been found no way of making the rearrangement.

Marsden promised to stay with me the third night, and in order to be sure to keep awake, we drank copiously of strong black coffee. As a further precaution, it was arranged to have an alarm clock ring every hour.

But neither of us needed the coffee or the clock. We sat in my room in the darkness, living over the old days, and exchanging reminiscences. As the city hall clock chimed the quarter for 11:45, Marsden remarked that the peculiar manifestation would soon be there if it were coming at all. We said little from that time on, but kept our eyes on the door. Finally the clock struck 12. Then, not once, but thrice, as on the two preceding nights, there came the turning of bolt and key, the opening of the door, the presence and the writing of that one hateful word on the wall. Marsden saw it, and I saw it. For half an hour after the appearance we sat and speculated on the strange sight, but could form no opinion that would hold water. Then, as sensible men, we slept.

The next morning we sought the proprietor of the hotel and told him of all we had seen. He declared that our experience had been duplicated in the past, but that the clerk usually had succeeded in making occupants of the room believe that they had been dreaming. That very day he called in a carpenter, who, after much figuring and measuring, found a way to dispense with room A-21. I was given another room, and I was the last man to occupy A-21.

At noon that day I asked the clerk if there were any letters or telegrams. For answer he handed me three telegrams, which, it was explained, had been delayed in reaching me because of imperfect knowledge on the part of my friends of my forwarding address. One of these was dated 12:30 of the first night I slept in the hotel, and informed me that my brother in Colorado had died at exactly 12 o'clock. The second telegram was dated at 12:30 of the second night, and told me that another brother, who lived in Detroit, had died at 12 o'clock that night. The third message was dated 12:30 of the third night, when Marsden stayed with me, and contained the information that a third brother, whose home was in Kansas City, had died at 12 o'clock that night.

The solution of the mystery? I have none. Assuming that the ghost of the poor carpenter could stalk abroad at midnight and write on the walls of the hotel room, what connection could that have with the deaths of my brothers? And, as I have said, I do not believe in ghosts. Furthermore, was it a mere coincidence that each of these three, all of whom, so far as any one knew, should die at midnight, one on each of the three nights? If there was a warning for me intended, what was the warning? Hallucination? Not a bit of it. Else how did it happen that John Marsden saw exactly the things I seemed to have seen, and the same things others saw before us? Impossible. I know what I saw. I know that others saw it. I know, too, that I received the telegrams exactly as I have set down here, and that I afterwards verified the information contained in them. But, explain it, you say. Well, I can't. Can you?

SAVED BY REFERENDUM

Good Illustration of How Law Operates for Public Good.

A good illustration of how the referendum operates for the public benefit was furnished in Regina, Canada, in May, 1910. The city council made a contract with a private corporation to build and operate a street car system, but the contract had to be submitted to the voters. It was rejected by a large majority. That stopped private ownership of street car transportation in Regina.

Then the city council submitted the question, whether the city should build a street car system for itself, or let the matter rest for a time. By an overwhelming vote the council was ordered to build a road to be owned and operated by the city. So by the referendum it was decided by the people who own the streets of Regina that they don't want and won't have private ownership of their public streets. Without the referendum a valuable franchise would have passed into private hands, contrary to the wishes of the people.

What happened in Regina is just what happened in Cincinnati years ago, when the Ohio legislature tried to turn the Cincinnati Southern railroad over to private hands; but the people of Cincinnati saved their public property by the referendum. That is one reason why the Big Business tool known as the "Ohio State Board of Commerce" is so busy fighting the initiative and referendum. Under the management of Allen Ripley Foots that body is a mere stalking horse for the Plunderbund.

EDITOR'S DECLARATION

Give the People of the Buckeye State the Whip Hand.

The McConnellsville Democrat says editorially:

There is a large and growing element in favor of the initiative and referendum, which will virtually give the people the control over legislation and legislators and the power to change the constitution at will. Some think this too much power to entrust to the people, but it is a growing idea and sure to come soon. If we were writing a constitution nothing would please us more than to include a provision providing for both the initiative and referendum in state and local matters. While time may discover something better, yet this will give the people a greater voice in their government and will more thoroughly try out their ability to rule themselves. It is not an encroachment on representative government, but will enable a man to have a hand in government without being in politics.

WON'T FOOL THE PEOPLE.

Enemies of the initiative and referendum twaddle about "our historic and constitutional system." That twaddle won't fool the people. What the enemies of the initiative and referendum want is a government that does not represent the people. They have that kind of government now and they want to keep it.

MONOPOLIZING WEALTH.

Big Business is monopolizing wealth. It can't do that without controlling the law-making power. It can control the law-making power as long as it can keep the people from having the initiative and referendum. That's the reason Big Business is opposed to the initiative and referendum.

Fitch's Grains of Health

The Coffee Substitute With the Coffee Taste"

The only substitute in all the world that has the coffee flavor and the coffee satisfaction—without one of coffee's bad after-effects. In coffee, it is caffeine that causes all the trouble. In Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH a special high-grade blend of coffee is so combined with roots, herbs and vegetables that the caffeine is counteracted. The combination has a health building effect. Physicians recommend it. Even children can drink it. Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH is sold by all leading grocers. The price is 30 cents the pound package. It is ground, ready for use. It is just as easy to prepare as coffee. But only half as much of Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH is required as coffee. Therefore it costs only half as much as good coffee.

If your grocer cannot supply you, write us, mentioning his name, and we will send you a generous sample package of Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH (enough to serve a large family at breakfast) and a booklet telling you all about Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH. Enclose 6 cents in stamps for postage.

There were the customary chair, washstand and iron bed. One picture, that of some historical scene, completed the details.

I was very sleepy, and, after locking my door and turning the key in the lock, started to switch off the electric light and get into bed. However, as I turned the key, I noticed above the lock an old-fashioned bolt, and this I shoved into its socket. There was no need, so far as I could discover, for this extra precaution, but the bolt was there, so I used it. The windows were lowered from the top, each six inches, and were so fastened inside that while the occupant of the room could raise and lower the top sash at will, they could not be opened from the outside. Nor, strange as it may seem, were they so constituted that the lower part could be moved at all.

All of these details I mention minutely, for they are necessary to the story that is to follow.

I could not have been in bed very long until I fell asleep. I think I slept soundly, too, for I was very tired, and I am sure I did not dream. However, at midnight (I know it was midnight, for I heard the city hall clock strike 12), I was awakened with the vague feeling of a presence in the room. I knew there could be no one else in the room, and I saw and heard nothing. But there was the feeling, nevertheless, that there was a presence there besides my own.

I made up my mind that it was all imagination and was closing my eyes to go to sleep again, when I thought I heard a sound at the door. Looking toward the door I saw what appeared to be a phosphorescent light along the bolt and over the key. Then, apparently with no visible or corporal power manifest, the key turned in the lock and the bolt shot back. The door slowly opened, noiselessly, and into the room came an apparition, or wraith, and the door closed behind it. I cannot adequately describe this strange appearance. It was without shape or form, and so far as I could see, did not possess substance. Instead, it was more like a blurred, indistinct wave of light than anything else.

The thing, or ghost, or person, just as you will, moved or floated slowly and with no noise whatever, to the wall of the room opposite my bed, and seemed to hover about the wall, at a point slightly above the range of my eyes as I lay in bed. Then, as if with a finger of phosphorescent light, the strange finger seemed to write on the wall. And this is what I saw, in bright letters of golden light, the one word "Dead!"

Thus having done, the wraith moved back to the door, opened and passed out of it, and then the door was closed and the same dim light played on key and bolt, and they were turned exactly as I had turned them when I went to bed.

Being entirely free from superstition, as I asserted at the outset, I had no notion at all that I had seen a ghost or a vision. Instead, as a rational man, I charged the whole thing up to nightmare. Perhaps I reasoned, it was all due to having eaten a rather heavy supper.

But, within the next hour the strange performance was twice repeated. Now, I cannot remember, in all my life, of having had a dream twice, even on two different nights. Certainly, I told myself, I have never thrice, in the same night, dreamed the same dream. Must be some trick of the light, I fancied. But next morning I abandoned this theory, for on examination I found that there was no chance whatever for light to have been thrown into the room in any such fashion. The door was locked and bolted, as I had left it the night before.

When I went down to breakfast, the night clerk was still on duty, and he asked me with what I thought to be extreme solicitude, how I slept. I said nothing of what I had seen and told him that I had slept well, with the exception of having had a nightmare, and that, as I was to remain in the city a week, I should like to have the same room every night. He said I might have it, but that as the crowd of the day before had gone and the convention that had filled the hotel was gone, if there was any other room that was more convenient, I might have it. I decided to keep room A-21. The truth is, I wanted to investigate and see, if I could, just what had caused the manifestations of the night before, and which, as the day wore on, I became more and more convinced, was put before my eyes while I was fully awake, and was, therefore, no dream.

The second night I took extra precautions to examine the room, also to pull down the blinds at the windows so as to shut out the street lights entirely, then I made sure that I had really locked the door with key and bolt. Also, I set a chair against the door.

As on the night before, I was soon asleep, and also, as on that night, at 12 o'clock the performance was repeated, and thrice the presence of the turning of key and bolt, and the writing of the one word, in letters of light, on the wall.

Now I knew it was no dream. There was something else, something that needed looking into. Here was a strange phenomenon, or else I was losing my reason and giving way to hallucinations. I determined to call in another man and ask his aid in deciphering this mystery.

I recalled having a friend in the city, a former associate in school, who from his earliest days of learning had been a delver into the mysterious. He was now a celebrated detective, one to whom mysterious murders and other matters involving not only the skill of the sleuth but also the learning of scientists were entrusted. His name was John Marsden. I knew that, however busy he might be, he would be willing to help me out. My only fear was that I might be losing my mind, and so might have imagined I saw what was not to be seen.

I bunted up Marsden and told him my story. Ere I had spoken half a dozen words, he surprised me by asking if I had slept in room A-21. I told him I had, and wanted to know what there was about the room that made it peculiar. Then he asked me if I had not noticed that the bottoms of the windows were fastened in so that they could not be opened. I remembered that this was so.

"Well," he said, "a crazy carpenter did the woodwork in that building. Room A-21 was the last one to be finished. His fellow workmen had observed, by small signs, for several days that he was going insane, but had said nothing, thinking that perhaps they were mistaken. But on the morning that he put these windows in the contractor came into the room where the carpenter was working. He saw how the windows were built, but did not dream that the workman was fast becoming a maniac. That there should be such careless work angered him, and he told the poor carpenter that nobody but a crazy man would build a window like that.

"The mention of the word crazy was the last straw that upset the carpenter's mind. Suddenly he became a raving maniac, and struck the contractor a blow over the head with his hatchet, that cleaved the skull and killed the man instantly. It happened that the other workmen had left the building for some material, so there were no witnesses. But the maniac, suddenly recovering his reason in part, started at his bleeding victim and exclaimed: 'Dead!' Then with his carpenter's pencil he wrote on the wall, perhaps exactly where you saw the letters, that one dreadful word, 'Dead.'

"He then fell unconscious beside the body of his victim. The other workmen, coming in soon, found both of them.

The dead man was sent to an undertaker and the carpenter to the hospital. In the hospital he entirely recovered his reason and told what had happened. But the strain was too much for him and he died within two days. Since that time it has been said that room A-21 is haunted by the carpenter, who comes every night and writes the one word on the wall. Regular patrons of the hotel avoid that room, and it is never assigned to any one but a stranger, and then only when the hotel is filled. The management several times has talked of re-arranging the rooms so as to get rid of this one, but there has been found no way of making the rearrangement.

Marsden promised to stay with me the third night, and in order to be sure to keep awake, we drank copiously of strong black coffee. As a further precaution, it was arranged to have an alarm clock ring every hour.

But neither of us needed the coffee or the clock. We sat in my room in the darkness, living over the old days, and exchanging reminiscences. As the city hall clock chimed the quarter for 11:45, Marsden remarked that the peculiar manifestation would soon be there if it were coming at all. We said little from that time on, but kept our eyes on the door. Finally the clock struck 12. Then, not once, but thrice, as on the two preceding nights, there came the turning of bolt and key, the opening of the door, the presence and the writing of that one hateful word on the wall. Marsden saw it, and I saw it. For half an hour after the appearance we sat and speculated on the strange sight, but could form no opinion that would hold water. Then, as sensible men, we slept.

The next morning we sought the proprietor of the hotel and told him of all we had seen. He declared that our experience had been duplicated in the past, but that the clerk usually had succeeded in making occupants of the room believe that they had been dreaming. That very day he called in a carpenter, who, after much figuring and measuring, found a way to dispense with room A-21. I was given another room, and I was the last man to occupy A-21.

At noon that day I asked the clerk if there were any letters or telegrams. For answer he handed me three telegrams, which, it was explained, had been delayed in reaching me because of imperfect knowledge on the part of my friends of my forwarding address. One of these was dated 12:30 of the first night I slept in the hotel, and informed me that my brother in Colorado had died at exactly 12 o'clock. The second telegram was dated at 12:30 of the second night, and told me that another brother, who lived in Detroit, had died at 12 o'clock that night. The third message was dated 12:30 of the third night, when Marsden stayed with me, and contained the information that a third brother, whose home was in Kansas City, had died at 12 o'clock that night.

The solution of the mystery? I have none. Assuming that the ghost of the poor carpenter could stalk abroad at midnight and write on the walls of the hotel room, what connection could that have with the deaths of my brothers? And, as I have said, I do not believe in ghosts. Furthermore, was it a mere coincidence that each of these three, all of whom, so far as any one knew, should die at midnight, one on each of the three nights? If there was a warning for me intended, what was the warning? Hallucination? Not a bit of it. Else how did it happen that John Marsden saw exactly the things I seemed to have seen, and the same things others saw before us? Impossible. I know what I saw. I know that others saw it. I know, too, that I received the telegrams exactly as I have set down here, and that I afterwards verified the information contained in them. But, explain it, you say. Well, I can't. Can you?

SAVED BY REFERENDUM

Good Illustration of How Law Operates for Public Good.

A good illustration of how the referendum operates for the public benefit was furnished in Regina, Canada, in May, 1910. The city council made a contract with a private corporation to build and operate a street car system, but the contract had to be submitted to the voters. It was rejected by a large majority. That stopped private ownership of street car transportation in Regina.

Then the city council submitted the question, whether the city should build a street car system for itself, or let the matter rest for a time. By an overwhelming vote the council was ordered to build a road to be owned and operated by the city. So by the referendum it was decided by the people who own the streets of Regina that they don't want and won't have private ownership of their public streets. Without the referendum a valuable franchise would have passed into private hands, contrary to the wishes of the people.

What happened in Regina is just what happened in Cincinnati years ago, when the Ohio legislature tried to turn the Cincinnati Southern railroad over to private hands; but the people of Cincinnati saved their public property by the referendum. That is one reason why the Big Business tool known as the "Ohio State Board of Commerce" is so busy fighting the initiative and referendum. Under the management of Allen Ripley Foots that body is a mere stalking horse for the Plunderbund.

EDITOR'S DECLARATION

Give the People of the Buckeye State the Whip Hand.

The McConnellsville Democrat says editorially:

There is a large and growing element in favor of the initiative and referendum, which will virtually give the people the control over legislation and legislators and the power to change the constitution at will. Some think this too much power to entrust to the people, but it is a growing idea and sure to come soon. If we were writing a constitution nothing would please us more than to include a provision providing for both the initiative and referendum in state and local matters. While time may discover something better, yet this will give the people a greater voice in their government and will more thoroughly try out their ability to rule themselves. It is not an encroachment on representative government, but will enable a man to have a hand in government without being in politics.

WON'T FOOL THE PEOPLE.

Enemies of the initiative and referendum twaddle about "our historic and constitutional system." That twaddle won't fool the people. What the enemies of the initiative and referendum want is a government that does not represent the people. They have that kind of government now and they want to keep it.

MONOPOLIZING WEALTH.

Big Business is monopolizing wealth. It can't do that without controlling the law-making power. It can control the law-making power as long as it can keep the people from having the initiative and referendum. That's the reason Big Business is opposed to the initiative and referendum.

To The Women

Some women are just a trifle timid about going to a bank to transact business. And why? Simply because they are not familiar with the rules of banking. This shouldn't be so, and, indeed, this isn't so with those who come to this bank, for we aim to make every transaction so clear and so plain, that dealing with a bank soon becomes to them an easy habit.

We appreciate the patronage of women. Their business with us is already large and steadily increasing. If you are not now a patron, then please consider this an invitation to become one.

You get a large tube of Nostriola containing sixty days' treatment for 25c. Buy a tube of your druggist today, and you'll wish you had tried Nostriola sooner.

WAS ARRESTED FOR CARRYING BIG REVOLVER

E. P. Green, a non-union mounter, employed at the Wehrle plant, was arrested Wednesday evening at the entrance to the company's ground and charged at the city prison with carrying concealed weapons. When arrested Green had in his pocket a big revolver. As he left the gate he reached in his hip pocket for something and the officers on duty caught sight of the weapon and took the man into custody. In police court Thursday morning he was fined $5 and costs but the same was suspended by Mayor Ankele. Since the strike two officers have been stationed at the entrance to the plant to prevent any possible disorder.

STATE TROOPS

by the guard when they started to go through the railroad yards. An altercation and the exchange of shots followed.

A number of strike-breakers are quartered in the Water Valley shops.

Four Guards Fired Upon.

Houston, Tex., Oct. 5.—Four guards employed in the Southern Pacific shops in this city were fired upon at midnight by unknown persons from outside the railroad fence. One guard named Tullis was hit by a bullet and is believed to be fatally wounded.

The bullet passed through the arm and entered the abdomen. The other guards were uninjured. The men who fired the shots escaped.

Take Away Strikebreakers.

McComb City Miss., Oct. 5.—With the enforced departure late last night of the last of the strike breakers brought here by the Illinois Central Railroad, came the first real assurance of the restoration of peace after 24 hours of excitement and spasmodic rioting. The people of McComb City demanded that the strikebreakers be removed from the community and the 132 men were placed under heavy guard aboard a special train and hurried to New Orleans.

Sixty soldiers, armed with ball cartridges and with orders to shoot to kill if necessary, accompanied the special train south as far as Magnolia. This action by the military authorities probably prevented another battle that might have proved more serious than the clash of last night.

Three companies of Mississippi National Guard patrolled the streets at dark and last night the belief is expressed that the town will remain quiet.

Run as An Open Shop.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—The Burnside shops of the Illinois Central Road became an open shop today, a formal notice posted within the stockade informing the workmen that hereafter the road will deal only with its individual employees. The strikers declared the order would have no effect on the strike. A statement issued by Vice President Park, of the Illinois Central, stated: "There has been no great damage in the working. We have a few more men conditions today than yesterday. Train movements are about normal everywhere. About 140 men strike breakers arrived from the south and were taken into the Burnside's plant going to the works in groups of 10 or a dozen. They were not molested."

May Sue the Strikers.
Chicago, Oct. 5.—Reports that the railroads are considering prosecution of the strike leaders under the Sherman anti-trust law were continued at the office of the railroads here today. Officers of the Illinois Central stated that counsel for their line had taken up the decision of the United States supreme court in the Danbury hatters case to discover if the finding therein might be applied to the present labor problem.

DIEHL TRIAL ASSIGNED FOR TUESDAY, OCT. 17

Attorney S. L. James Will Defend Prisoner Charged With Complicity in Etherington Lynching.

In the case of the State of Ohio vs. Walter Diehl, whom the grand jury indicted for first degree murder in the lynching of Carl Etherington, the defendant, Diehl, appeared in court Thursday morning in the custody of Sheriff Slabaugh. The indictment found by the grand jury was read to the defendant by the clerk of court and Diehl pleaded not guilty. S. L. James has been appointed by the court to defend him. The trial has been assigned for Tuesday, Oct. 17. Judge Edwin Mansfield of Richland county will preside.

Wm. C. Kuster vs. Clem L. Riley, auditor et al., decree for plaintiff. A suit brought to enjoin the collection of the Dow tax.

Charles M. Baker vs. C. L. V. Holtz, treasurer, etc., leave given to withdraw demurrer and to file an answer.

Park DeCrown vs. Benington Oil & Gas Co., to be placed in the next assignment for trial by jury.

The parties indicted by the last grand jury will be called upon to plead next Saturday morning.

Cases assigned for trial on the printed assignment on Oct. 2 are now for trial on Oct. 9; those on Oct. 3 are for trial Oct. 10, and those on Oct. 4 are for trial Oct. 11.

COMFORTING WORDS

Many a Newark Household Will Find Them So.

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed; to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. To tell how this great change can be brought about will prove comforting words to hundreds of Newark readers.

Amos Frey, Toboso, Newark, Ohio, says: "I have been entirely free from kidney trouble since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me over eleven years ago. I suffered severely from pains through the small of my back, and they were always aggravated by the least exertion. If I sat in one position for any length of time, my back became so sore that I could hardly arise. I took several remedies but the relief obtained was slight and I continued to grow worse until I was in a serious condition. I finally read of Doan's Kidney Pills and as they were so highly recommended for complaints similar to mine, I procured a box. They lived up to representations, going directly to the seat of my trouble and ridding me of all pain. I have always recommended Doan's Kidney Pills highly and I deem it a pleasure to do so."

NOT TOO BUSY TO GO TO SCHOOL.

Alvin Ramsdener, Smithville, is one of the good farmers of Wayne county. He owns a farm of 118 acres on which he has 19 3-4 miles of the drains. In fact he has the place 40 feet apart all over his farm. He follows a rotation of potatoes, wheat and clover, the farm being equally divided among the three crops. While potatoes were practically a failure all over the state this year, Mr. Ramsdener harvested an average of 125 bushels per acre which he placed on the market at 87 cents per bushel. He uses 1,000 lbs. of a 4-10-10 home-mixed fertilizer per acre on his potatoes, and finds that it pays well.

Mr. Ramsdener is a very busy man but he finds time to manage the arrangements for the farmer's day at the local chautauqua, helps to arrange for the agricultural extension school and the farmer's institutes and he is planning to take the eight weeks' course in agriculture given at the College of Agriculture at Columbus, O., January, 2, 1912, to February 25, 1912.

It is this man can afford the time to take a course in agriculture, others certainly can do likewise.

A HARMLESS WAY TO DARKEN THE HAIR

A Little Sage and Sulphur Makes Gray Hair Vanish—A Remedy For All Hair Troubles.

Who does not know the value of sage and sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft, glossy and in good condition? As a matter of fact, sulphur is a natural element of hair, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with loss of color and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably, there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature grayness, than sage and sulphur, if properly prepared. The Wyeth Chemical Company of New York, put up an ideal remedy of this kind, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, and authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

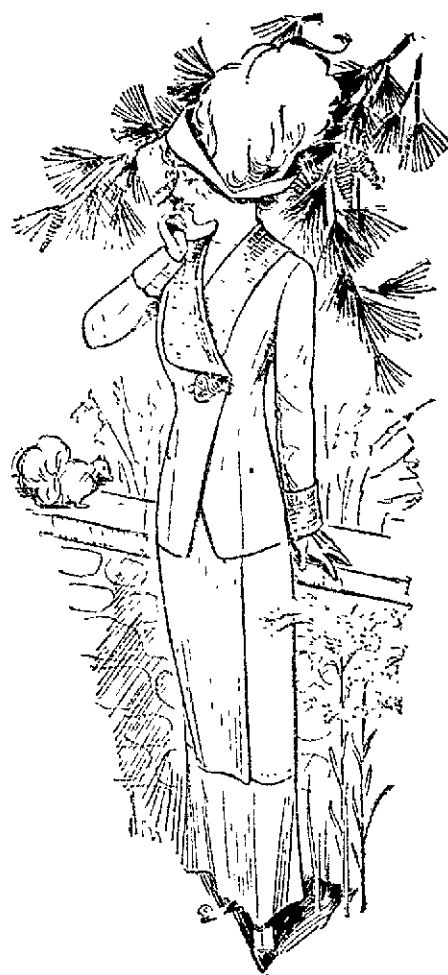

If you have dandruff, or if your hair is thin or turning gray, get a bottle of this remedy from your druggist today, and see what it will do for you.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle and is recommended and sold by all druggists.
